

Stirring Scenes on London's Wild Day When War Was Declared Against Germany.

The British government has called for bids for an issue of $75,000,000 treasury bills.

With the arrival in English ports of many ships there has been a sharp decline in the prices of provisions.

GREEK-TURKEY WAR?

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from its Brussels correspondent last night says:

"Excitement prevailed here this (Friday) afternoon when it was reported that the Germans were about to advance in great force on Brussels and Antwerp. This report was immediately denied officially and assurance was given from military quarters that there was nothing in the disposition of the German right wing to indicate that a march on Brussels and Antwerp was intended.

DECISIVE EVENTS IN SIGHT.

"Nevertheless it is evident decisive events are imminent.

"It is doubtful whether the official publication in Brussels papers of a proclamation warning civilians to abstain from acts of hostility against the enemy, as these may entail terrible reprisals on the innocent population, and the decision of the government to cease the publication of official bulletins on the situation are likely to reassure the public.

PLAN GENERAL ADVANCE.

That the Germans are planning an advance of their giant army all along the line is believed here.

This was borne out to a certain extent by a report received here that the mayor of Aix-la-Chapelle has issued a proclamation announcing that great masses of German troops are to pass through that town today.

The Germans' plan, according to technical observers of military operations, is to break through the allies' line in the southern part of the Belgian province of Brabant, crossing that section where the plain of Waterloo is situated, and forcing their foe to retreat on Aghwert.

ALLIES ANTICIPATE MOVE.

That this program has been anticipated is indicated by the fact that large forces of Belgians have been rushed to the vicinity of Namur and all along the River Meuse.

That the military operations of the French and Belgian armies will run along more smoothly, if that is possible,

CROWDS AT DOWNING STREET WHEN WAR WAS DECLARED.

In the future is indicated by the fact that the unification of the two forces has been established by an interchange of officers.

The Belgians exchanged Col. Orjo de Marcheville of the cavalry and Maj. Melotte, formerly military attaché at Berlin, for the French Capt. Cholet, Lieut. Col. Adelbert, and Gen. Genie, the latter military attaché at Brussels.

FRENCH TROOPS READY.

It is reported here that the transportation of French troops into Belgian territory is now complete and that all the troops expected are in battle order.

It was announced from Paris that Field Marshal Sir John French, commander in chief of the English field army, had joined Gen. Joseph Joffre, the French commander in chief. It is expected, now that the leaders are in personal touch with each other, the military program of the allies will be thoroughly whipped into shape to circumvent any move made by the Germans.

MOVEMENTS NEAR NAMUR.

Regarding the movements near Namur the official press bureau of the British war office and admiralty says: "This (Friday) morning towards Eghize, ten miles north of Namur, a mixed detachment from the garrison surprised some cavalry regiments encamped, threw them into confusion, and fought them towards the east after taking numerous prisoners and capturing cannon and machine guns.

"To the southward of the Meuse the German cavalry avoids contact with the French.

SURPRISE GERMAN CAVALRY.

"Belgian cyclists and cavalry from Namur yesterday surprised a force of German cavalry accompanied by artillery and machine guns and compelled them to retire. The Germans lost a field gun and several machine guns.

FIGHTING ALL ALONG LINE.

A dispatch to the Daily News from its Brussels correspondent says that all along the lines to the south there are signs of desperate conflicts which have taken place. The Belgians have held their positions magnificently, he says. Masses of troops are everywhere and barricades of chains and wire entanglements are to be seen.

Stories of the number of Germans killed at Eghize, he says, vary a great deal, the lowest estimate being 1,000 and the highest 4,000.

At Louvain, the correspondent says, King Albert was in consultation with the general staff. He appeared to be confident.

The roads leading into Brussels, he says, were crowded with mournful processions of Red Cross wagons bringing in the wounded. Both Belgian and German soldiers were walking by the side of the carts comforting the sufferers.

There were numerous priests and monks bearing the Red Cross badge. The scene was pitiful, the correspondent said, and moved all beholders to tears. The soldiers returning from the front were greeted along the road by innumerable women and children, who handed them bread, meat, and bottles of wine and are repaid with a kiss.

EXPLAINS FRENCH SUCCESS.

The British press bureau also issued a bulletin on a French success in the Vosges mountains, Alsace, as follows: "After a successful resistance lasting five days at the passes of Sainte Marie aux Mines and Le Bonhomme the French troops have occupied the region of the Saale pass, which commands the valley of the Bruche, an affluent of the Rhine.

"At Saals numerous desertions of German troops are noted. The French have taken many prisoners and captured some machine guns.

"It is now confirmed that the Belgian troops were successful in their engagement on Aug. 12 with six regiments of German cavalry, supported by 2,500 infantry with machine guns and artillery.

"The Germans were completely disorganized. The six cavalry regiments suffered great loss and the Belgian troops pursued the infantry, which gave way.

FOUGHT FIVE DAYS.

The Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company telegraphs an official statement issued by the minister of war at the French capital at midnight. Referring to the fight on the Vosges mountains he says: "The French troops held their positions on the mountains for five days, despite vigorous attacks of the Germans, who were superior in number. At one point the Germans brought beside their weakened troops some formations of reserves, but the latter were unable to resist the French attack and were obliged to lay down their arms. The entire division of 1,200 men surrendered. The French troops hold the valley of the Bruche."

The Havas news agency's version of the official statement issued by the French minister of war in Paris at midnight in reference to the fight on the Vosges mountains differs in some respects from that given by the Exchange Telegraph company. It says: "An entire section, and not a division, of the German troops surrendered, with their machine guns."

The Havas version adds: "In the course of recent operations a number of spies have been court-martialed and shot, including the mayor and postmaster of Thann, in Lower Alsace."

Two French battalions which had seized the village of Lagarde in German Lorraine, above Avricourt, were dislodged by a superior force of German troops and driven back to Xures, in the department of Moselle.

"At various points along the French frontier the French troops have taken over 1,500 prisoners."

FEEDING BELGIAN KIDNIES.

The Chronicle's woman correspondent in Brussels describes in a dispatch the organization of relief work in the Belgian capital and the feeding of the children at the supply centers established in the schools.

Six thousand children are being fed daily, and the number was expected to be increased soon to 10,000. Meat and vegetables contributed by generous tradesmen are made into soup in huge cauldrons and sent out in wholesale quantities to each school where distribution is made.

LOANS TO GERMANS TREASON.

British Government Issues Order to Prevent Its Subjects Giving Aid to Enemies.

The British government yesterday announced that any British subject or anyone living under the British flag who in any way loans money to the German government or assists in securing such loans will be tried for treason.

"Now, therefore," the manifesto concludes, "we do hereby warn all our subjects and all persons resident or being in our dominions who may be found doing or attempting any of such treasonable acts, as aforesaid, that they will be liable to be apprehended and dealt with as traitors and will be proceeded against with the utmost rigor of the law."

SPIES IN FRENCH ARMIES.

Germans Known to Be Operating Among Troops in Alsace—Two Men Shot.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—It is officially announced that a number of German spies are operating among the French troops in Alsace. The postmaster and mayor of Thann, a town twelve miles northwest of Muehlhausen, were detected in the act of spying and shot. The war office states that in the operations at Liege the Belgians captured 2,000 prisoners, while the French on the frontier took more than 1,000 prisoners.

Arrested in Germany for Refusing to Fight for Kaiser Against France, Report.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] PARIS, Aug. 14.—A member of the Mumm family, who is a German subject, is reported to have been arrested in Germany for refusing to join the Kaiser's army to fight against France.

FAIL TO SILENCE FORTS AT LIEGE

Germans Concentrate Fire on Strongholds West of the Town.

ALL INTACT, IS REPORT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] LONDON, Aug. 15, 5 a. m.—The Standard's correspondent in Brussels says it is officially announced at Brussels that all of the twelve forts surrounding Liege are still intact.

An earlier report says that the German forces have abandoned the bombardment of the forts on the right bank of the river and have concentrated their fire on the strongholds west of the town.

"The forts' continued resistance to the huge German forces about them is the most remarkable feature of the military situation," the Standard dispatch says. "Inside the forts are about 3,000 Belgian soldiers. All around them are German forces numbering at least 250,000."

"Part of the German army operating in Belgium has been pushed forward to the regions northwest and south of Liege, while reinforcements from the east are constantly arriving. Until yesterday the bombardment of the forts of Liege by the Kaiser's artillery had continued at intervals, but without much effect.

Repeated Assaults Fail.

"There were repeated assaults by infantry, but the Belgians repelled them with machine guns trained upon the bare smooth slopes in the immediate vicinity of the forts.

"For the moment the Germans seem content to invest the city and its environs, with the idea of starving the forts into a surrender. Meanwhile the guns of the fortifications, which command the German line of communication in the Meuse valley, continue to harass seriously the German advance.

"Even if the forts are reduced they will have more than done their duty. They arrested the German onrush and delayed the execution of the Berlin plan of campaign to such an extent that the allied armies of Belgium and France had time to complete an immense scheme of defense."

German General a Suicide?

A dispatch from Tirlemont says it is reported there that Gen. von Emmich, commander of the Germans at Liege, has committed suicide because of his reverse. This report cannot be confirmed and is not thought to be true.

Another rumor that an attempt on the life of King Albert of Belgium, who is at the front in the vicinity of Liege, had been made is based on a slight accident to the royal automobile.

the proper place for people like you," was the officer's response.

Mrs. Murray presented her card, showing that she was a resident of Paris and told him that she was an American.

"In any case you can't cross the frontier; the rails are all torn up three miles from the frontier," the general replied. "Try going by the way of Basel."

Face Baffling Situation.

On the Basle road the party had to change trains at least a dozen times. On reaching at last the German-Swiss frontier the party encountered the most dramatic situation of all. The women were in a cart with plank across it for a seat. The men walked beside. A line of barricades of trucks, wheelbarrows, stones, tables, and other implements and furniture confronted them. A sergeant demanded the party's papers. Mr. Hackett fortunately had his passport, but it was made out only for one person. The soldiers conferred over it and refused to let the party pass.

Mrs. Murray's resourcefulness came to the rescue. Indignantly she insisted that the passport was for six, and owing to her unyielding insistence the sergeant accepted it as such.

There was still the Benneclourt scene between Switzerland and France, a sort of no man's land of 600 yards, to cross. This was filled with a seething crowd of Germans, Austrians, and Italians fleeing from France.

Crowds Herded Like Cattle.

"The scene there was horrible," Mrs. Murray said. "Men cursing, women and children weeping, all hungry and tired and terrorized, were herded there like cattle, with an overpowering stench arising from their encampment."

There was no train running from Dells to Paris, and the party considered going on to Belfort, but the danger of being shut in there by a siege turned them to Montebellard, whence they reached Paris by way of Besancon and Dijon.

"The plint of the Nelson column in Trafalgar square is banked high with humanity. It is as if the column sprang from a living mass and was sustained by that mass. Every time flags are lifted high there are cheers, and when the cheering dies away the throng joins in 'God Save the King.' Across every street soldiers in khaki are passing swiftly. Sometimes they are cheered, but they remain impassive, responding occasionally with salutes.

"There is more awe than exultation in all voices. The thunder of the last stroke of Big Ben falls upon the ear. It is the sounding of the tocsin and seven nations are at war."—From James O'Donnell Bennett's Description of London's First War Night.

LAYS PLANS FOR TRADE INVASION

Business Men Meet Wilson and McAdoo; Ask Aid of Government.

URGE THREE MEASURES.

Arnold, H. G. P. Deans, Joseph McArthur of the Chicago Clearing House association, Julius Barnes, John Bassett Moore, H. E. Ryerhoff of the Chicago board of trade, and E. N. Hurley, Frederick Bode, and A. H. Mulliken.

The question of the federal government assuming the insurance risk on export cargoes appeared to be of vital importance to the business men of the conference and was most discussed. It was not proposed that the government assume the risk without compensation, but that it should be conducted on a business basis, the government being paid premiums for the risk incurred.

At the present time the marine insurance companies and Lloyds are refusing to give any insurance on export cargoes destined for Europe.

Insurance Feature Temporary.

It is proposed that the insurance feature be temporary only, to meet the pending emergency. The government officials have not decided whether it can be undertaken by an administrative order under the emergency clause of the constitution, or whether an act of congress will be necessary.

The opinion was expressed by several members of the conference that authority for the government to undertake to insure ships flying the American flag might be included in the pending ship registry bill.

It was stated that with the enlarged registry of American ships an action by the government supplementing what private companies might be able to do in connection with insurance, the question of exports of grain and cotton and of foreign exchange would rapidly solve themselves.

Take Up Foreign Exchange.

Foreign exchange, it was stated, would find its equilibrium when the United States gets the ships and moves the grain. As a means of solving the foreign exchange question, Fatus J. Wade of St. Louis suggested to Secretary McAdoo and to the subcommittee having that subject under consideration that the federal reserve board should arrange with the banks in the federal reserve system to loan to any of the banks of Europe any amount such banks may desire to borrow up to $100,000,000, to be secured in the same manner and by the same class of securities which the banks of Europe demand when the banks of the United States are borrowers.

Give European Banks Credit.

Such an arrangement, it was declared, would provide the European banks with the credit in this country with which to pay American exporters for the goods which they propose to furnish Europe, and at the same time the gold would remain on this side of the Atlantic.

It further was proposed that Secretary Bryan should send an identical note to all the belligerent powers asking if it will be agreeable to them for the United banks of their respective nations, for the purpose of purchasing for importation the farm products of the United States.

The foreign governments are also interested on the question of allowing the flying the American flag to proceed to final destination, provided the cargo consist of farm products only, according to this plan.

Wilson Receives Business Men.

President Wilson received the business men in the east room of the White House this afternoon and delivered a short, brilliant speech, thanking them for their cooperation and assuring them that the government will do everything in its power to assist the business world in the present emergency. In his speech he said:

"I believe you will discover, one of you who did not know it before, that the government has means, somewhat fully developed means, for assisting the commercial and industrial operations of the country, and that therefore it is worth while to maintain the kind of connection which is here momentarily established."

"We have been face to face with very critical circumstances. For my own part I feel that the period of apprehension has passed."

"A period of steady, sensible, concerted, constructive action has come, and that we are in the temper to bring that action about in the most effective way."

"I am sure that all of us here wish to put ourselves at your disposal, as I am sure you would wish to put yourselves at our disposal to work out a common means for a common end."

Both of these committees began by the government, "leg" institutions, operated for the purpose of maintaining high prices of competition. The agents of the department will endeavor to trace to high prices of the three major, flour, and beans—any illicit.

Retail Grocers Charge.

Retail grocers are increasing prices of their commodities that a virtual conglomeration of prices is being maintained.

Bel Westfield, chairman of the board of the National Board of Retail Grocers, declared that the prices of food products are without warrant prices now, if anything, on account of the war.

Calla Meeting of As Mr. Westfield announced an executive board of his board of directors meeting for the purpose of setting of all retail prices in the situation. The latter will be called for action in the meeting to be held in the morning.

EXPECT ALL AMERICANS IN WAR ZONE HOME WITHIN THREE WEEKS.

WILSON URGED TO STRENGTHEN U.S. WAR FORCES

Steps Already Taken to Get Fleet Together Again in the Atlantic.

NO CHANGE IN ARMY YET

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—The war in Europe and the threat of a general attack on the Pacific coast, naval and military officials are urging the President to take immediate steps to place the American navy and army in the best possible shape to deal with possible emergencies.

In the shipment of the American troops abroad, these authorities say, it will be well to have the navy so placed as to afford protection from interference with the shipment of troops to the front.

West War Forces Prepared.
It is not proposed that the United States mobilize its armed forces in the European sense of that term, but that army and navy be brought up to the full strength authorized by law, retrained, adequately supplied, and drilled, so as to be prepared to deal with emergencies.

When the European war started United States naval officers urged President Wilson and Secretary of the Navy Daniels to recall the fleet from Vera Cruz and station it in North Atlantic waters. Both the president and Mr. Daniels flatly refused to accede to the suggestion.

Naval Officers Disappointed.
Naval officers were disappointed by the attitude taken by the president. They believed that with half the world at war it was no time for the United States to leave the greater part of its sea fighting forces at Vera Cruz gathering barnacles and waiting while the training of the crews diminished.

GERMANY SELLS TURKEY CRUISERS, REPORT; RUSE?

Sale Announced as Breslau and Goeben Flee Anglo-French Fleet.

STIRS ROME GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(By the Times' Naval Correspondent.)—The sale of the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau to Turkey has been announced by the German government.

No sooner had this report become public than the allied governments opposed to Germany and Austria-Hungary agreed to bring Turkey to a realization of its obligations as a neutral power in connection with the alleged purchase, and Great Britain, France, and Russia immediately sent her a sharp demand for the repatriation of the officers and crews of the two German cruisers.

Following this demand, some credence that the report of the sale to the Turkish government was a blind to draw off the Anglo-French fleet in the Mediterranean, which had been pressing the Kaiser's battleship hard.

Purchase Not Confirmed.
There at least has been as yet no official confirmation of the actual purchase. It is reported that the two cruisers were met by a Turkish vessel outside and escorted into the Dardanelles. Later it was said they were waiting a chance to make a dash out.

A Reuter News Agency dispatch from Paris says advice received from the Dardanelles declares that contrary to the statement of the Turkish government the German flag has not been lowered on the Goeben and Breslau nor have their crews been landed since their arrival in Turkish waters.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Athens says that King Constantine, at the suggestion of the premier and minister of war, E. Venizelos, has called a conference of all former preachers of the Dardanelles to determine the attitude of Greece in the face of Turkey's purchase of the German cruisers.

Turkish Envoy Explains Purchase.
PARIS, Aug. 14.—Rifat Pasha, the Turkish ambassador, referring to the purchase of the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau by Turkey, said today: "We simply seized the opportunity to obtain two cruisers to assure the equilibrium of our naval forces with those of Greece. England exercised the right to requisition two cruisers just before the outbreak of the war in the English yard. Greece has just bought two from the United States. The arrival of the German cruisers in the Dardanelles was a windfall."

Renews Neutrality Vow.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Turkish consul general here today received through the Turkish ambassador at Washington the following communication from the minister of foreign affairs at Constantinople: "In order not to let any doubt subsist as to the present attitude which the imperial government has decided to observe in the present conflict, I deem it imperative and urgent to notify you again that our government is firmly resolved to maintain the strictest neutrality."

FISHING FLEET IS BUSY.

The Times' Naval Correspondent, London, Aug. 14.—(By the Times' Naval Correspondent.)—The seas are free to British merchantmen. The commercial flag of Germany no longer flies afloat. It is well that the nation should realize the tremendous significance of these two facts.

All trade routes are open, even on the North sea. The British fishing fleet is working. Coastwise traffic and passenger service in northern Europe have been resumed. Nothing quite like this ever happened in the history of the world. It is all due to the silent pressure of the unseen static force exerted by the British battle fleet which stands between the Kaiser and his domination of the world, even though battles have not been fought.

The Times' Naval Correspondent, after proceeding to Venice, says that all communications between Vienna and the outside world ceased during the first week in August. The capital was thereafter dependent for news upon meagre telegrams from Berlin.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Because of the heavy strain imposed upon the small diplomatic staff of the state department by the great European war, Secretary Bryan has retained two experts to serve as special counsel as long as the emergency exists. They are Prof. Eugene Wambaugh, professor of international law in Harvard university, and James Brown Scott, secretary for the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and formerly solicitor for the state department.

MINE DESTROYS AUSTRIAN SHIP; 150 MEET DEATH

Steamer Goes Down Off Dalmatian Coast; Half of Passengers Saved.

SEA FIGHT IN FAR EAST

LONDON, Aug. 14.—About 180 of the passengers and crew of the Austrian Lloyd steamer Baron Gautschi were killed or drowned when the vessel was blown up today by a mine off the island of Lussan, on the Dalmatian coast, according to a Reuter dispatch from Trieste. She carried about 300 passengers and crew, of whom about 150 were rescued.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from West Hartlepool says that the captain of the Danish steamer Huldsmærsk declared he passed seven sunken ships fifteen miles off Spurn Head, at the northeast entrance of the Humber. Only the masts of the vessels were visible above the water, but the captain believes they were German men of war.

Fleets Clash in Far East.
A dispatch from Hongkong received by the Exchange Telegraph company last night said it was reported in Hongkong that the British fleet in the far east had cornered the German far eastern squadron. The correspondent added that "weight was given to the report by the fact that shipping along the coast was being resumed on a normal basis."

Damaged Warships at Hongkong.
SHANGHAI, Aug. 14.—Two warships, each having four funnels, badly damaged and carrying many wounded, entered the harbor at Hongkong yesterday. Their identity has not been learned here, but the vessels are believed to be either the British armored cruisers Minotaur and Hampshire or the French armored cruisers Dupetit and Montcalm. They are reported to have had an engagement with the German cruisers of the same type, Scharnhorst and Gieseler.

German Losses African Lakes Boat.
LONDON, Aug. 14.—It is officially announced from Nyasaland, British Central Africa, that the government steamer Quondolin yesterday surprised and captured the German armed steamer Von Wissmar on the eastern shore of Lake Nyasa.

The territory on the shores of Lake Nyasa is divided among Great Britain, Portugal, and Germany. Great Britain controls the territory on the north and west, Portugal on the south and east, and Germany on the east and south. The lake is an important link in the water route from the mouth of the Zambezi to the heart of equatorial Africa.

German Reservists Prisoners.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Thirty-five German soldiers of the crew of the United Fruit steamer Zacafo, which reached here today from Colombia, Colon, and Kingston, are prisoners of war at Kingston instead of being on their way to Germany as reservists because of Capt. Towell's refusal to obey the command of the German consul at Colon and send the soldiers ashore.

At Kingston a British launch drew aboard and took officers went into the hold and took the officers ashore as prisoners of war.

SHIP REGISTRY BILL IS FOUGHT

Senator Cummins Says It Offers Interests What They Want Gratis.

UP FOR VOTE MONDAY.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—A vigorous fight on the ship registry bill as agreed to in conference was started in the senate today by Senator Cummins of Iowa.

Senator Cummins particularly objected to the action of the conference in striking out the amendment, adopted by the senate last week, which provided that a majority of the stock in all shipping companies which register their vessels under the American flag shall be owned by citizens of the United States.

The Iowa senator pointed out that as the measure now stands he believes it is offering the great shipping interests what they have always sought from this country without getting anything from them in return.

Gallinger Attacks Bill.
Senator Gallinger made a vigorous attack upon it, declaring that the original purpose of the legislation, which was to meet an emergency, had been perverted to an invasion of the coastwise shipping of the United States.

Senator Cummins declared that the leaving out of his amendment would leave the United States in a position by which the United States would be a subordinate by which foreign shipping belonging to belligerent powers may take refuge under it, and in that way the United States may give offense to friendly powers.

"If I were a citizen of one of these belligerent powers I would look upon this course by the United States as an unfriendly act," said Senator Cummins.

See Privilege Abused.
In addition to granting them safety during the present European war the conference bill, according to Senator Cummins, permits them to use the American registry without complying with the American law conditions or the American inspection laws.

The proposition submitted by the national foreign trade council for government insurance of vessels and their cargoes has aroused the ire of Senator Cummins and others.

They asserted today that if this scheme is carried out not only will the United States Steel corporation, the Standard Oil trust, and the United Fruit company, all American concerns, be given the privilege of American registry without the necessity of complying with the labor and inspection laws, but the American people will be called upon to guarantee their vessels against loss.

People Get Nothing?
In return for this guarantee the people will get nothing, according to Senator Cummins. The companies coming under American registry bring with them no promise to carry the products of the farm; the steel corporation and the Standard Oil company do not promise to give up carrying steel and oil for grain. Instead they get from the government a guarantee against loss and perform no service whatever for that guarantee.

Senator Cummins asserted that if the measure becomes a law as it stands a foreign built ship purchased by an American corporation may enter the coastwise trade with a crew of foreign seamen and officers and disregard entirely the American inspection laws.

After wrangling all day over the bill the senate agreed to vote on it at 3 p. m. Monday. The house did not take up the conference report today. Action on it may be had there tomorrow.

Franklin Hess Asserts Soldiers There Hate the Kaiser.

REFUSE TO BE OFFICERS.

Chicagoan Returns from Home of His Forefathers.

Franklin Hess of 6500 Normal avenue, was in Alsace when war between Germany and France was declared. He reached Chicago yesterday after a strenuous journey from Alsace to Germany, Holland, Belgium, and thence, returning to the United States on the steamship Philadelphia.

My father, who was born in Alsace, and I were visiting relatives there," said Mr. Hess. "They live right on the border between France and Germany. We had been there a couple of weeks and had thought nothing of the disturbance until the banks stopped paying money."

EXTENSION OF CENSORSHIP TO CABLES IS DEFERRED.

Washington Decides to Hear Companies' Side of Case Before Clamping Down Lid.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Final decision as to the policy of the Washington government toward the extension of the censorship recently applied on wireless stations to cable offices has been deferred several days. Representatives of some of the commercial companies interested, it is understood, have asked for an opportunity to be heard and it is expected that their counsel will confer with Attorney General McReynolds on Monday as to legal questions involved.

One cabinet officer said today that as the situation created has no precedent, the Washington government was endeavoring to arrive at a conclusion that would be in strict accord with its announced attitude of neutrality.

Senator Martine of New Jersey submitted in the senate a protest from German-Americans of his state against the censorship established over the German wireless stations at Tuckerton and Sayville.

SULLIVAN READY FOR FIGHT HERE; FIRST TOUR OVER

Roger Will Ask No Quarter and Grant None in Chicago Campaign.

COOK COUNTY HOLDS FATE

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Roger C. Sullivan will ask no quarter from Gov. Dunne, Senator Lewis, or Mayor Harrison, nor will he grant any when the Chicago primary campaign opens Monday night.

Mr. Sullivan, closing his downstate tour tonight in Rockford, spoke to 2,500 persons in the public square. He made it plain that he is ready to meet the tribulations which have demanded his political attention upon the battle ground picked by himself and upon the terms the three men have indicated in the campaign material which is being sent out on behalf of Lawrence B. Stringer.

Scores "Political Ingrates." "I particularly abhor the political ingrate," Mr. Sullivan said in the course of his speech. "The man in public life who is not steadfast in his allegiance to his constituents and to his friends who have assisted him in gaining places of power and prestige is not the man in whom the people can retain confidence."

"As for myself, I am not seeking the United States senatorship because I want to attach myself to a public pay roll. It is a matter of pride with me that I am a candidate because I wish to obtain power with which to reward political friends and punish political enemies."

"I believe the nation is at the threshold of a new and happier era of political activity, and it is my ambition to have part in that political development."

Arrange All Their Plans. All day long as the Sullivan party of campaigners flew through Winnebago, Rockford, and Ogle counties, reports reached the candidate of the plans of the opposition, and the final touches were placed upon the war map of the Chicago campaign as the downstate campaign was being run.

It is learned through anti-Sullivan channels that the chief expectations for success on the part of the Stringer men in the upstate belt are based upon the frequently reiterated messages from Chicago and Springfield that the governor, the senator and the mayor are agreed upon a policy of "burning up" Sullivan when they embark upon the Chicago campaign in behalf of Congressman Stringer.

The Sullivan foe outside of Cook county rely upon the state administration and the city hall to combine in a practical working organization which could give Stringer an even break in Cook county, which, they say, is necessary if Sullivan is to be defeated.

Bryan Flays Sullivan. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Good Democrats of Illinois will vote for Congressman Stringer for United States senator, and Ogle counties, reports reached the candidate of the plans of the opposition, and the final touches were placed upon the war map of the Chicago campaign as the downstate campaign was being run.

WILL APPEAL VOTE DECISION

Women Refused Right to Cast Ballots for County Board.

FIRST STEPS ARE TAKEN.

Test Case Will Go to Highest State Court, Suffragists Say.

An appeal to the Supreme court to determine finally the right of women to vote for candidates for county commissioners in Cook county was promised yesterday by prominent woman suffrage advocates, following an adverse ruling by the election commissioners.

President Charles H. Kellerman of the board, who refused to take a stand on the question the day before, and thereby with Commissioner Taylor and held that the women legally could not vote for county commissioners. Commissioner Carmack voted in favor of the women.

Women Are Indignant. Several woman suffrage leaders were present when the vote of the board was announced. They expressed their indignation and declared that they would appeal to the highest court in the state before they had ended the fight.

The first appeal will be to County Judge Owens. He will be asked to rescind the action of the election commissioners and rule in favor of the contention set up by the women. Judge Owens said last night that he would take no action until the question was presented to him in a formal petition. If he rules against the women they will appeal to the courts at once.

Leaders in the Illinois Equal Suffrage association will hold a conference Monday to determine what court action will be attempted.

Protests Against Ruling. Miss Harriet Vittum of the Women's City club was present when the decision was handed down by the election board. She protested that it was wrong.

"There are just as many good lawyers who coincide with the opinion of Mrs. Catharine Vaughn McCulloch that women can vote for these candidates as there are good lawyers who hold they can't," declared Miss Vittum.

BOY POET SLIPS POLITICAL TIPS

A Vote for Ma, He Pleads, Will Aid the County's Needs.

BOOSTER, HE, FOR G. O. P.

Stanley Roth, the 12 year old son of Mrs. Lucy Roth, Republican candidate for county commissioner on the August 18 Republican state, has taken the stump for his mother.

He made his first appearance at a meeting held at 2801 North Clark street, where he broke forth in rhyme:

It takes a lot of grit to be a woman candidate!

But my ma just comes on and says she thinks it is first rate.

Of course there's lots of ladies who don't think it is quite right.

That such an honored woman should be in a primy fight.

But my ma thinks that they don't know the meaning of office.

Because it must be plain to all of those who think an' care.

That dear old Ma is in need (just now, at any rate)

Of some progressive women who will help improve her state.

Will help improve her state, And so my ma made up her mind.

When she was asked to run For member of the board that does a work supposed by none.

The friends of her wished ones, Who're of the class, the rich, the rich, the rich, the rich.

The ones who don't vote by fate—She thinks that women know much more.

About such things as these, 'Cause isn't that the task you them By him who surely knows?

You ought to hear her speak just once. I'll bet you'd hate to lose!

For my ma is some orator, As lots of folks will tell.

But there is one thing most of all That fits her for a place Upon the county board—That's this: As housewife she's an ace.

Just that is what Chicago needs—More system, order, thrift.

An' one who gives these things to her Friends a welcome gift.

Now, is there any one at all Who can as well recite That trainin' in good order that keepsin' house must leave?

So come on! Join me in my work, As I have asked you to. Let's all go help elect my ma, 'Cause she is just true blue!

Other speakers at the meeting were Frank I. Bennett, Judge Torrlson, and William R. Moss.

LEARN MORE OF "PLOT" CARRANZA INTO CAPITAL SUNDAY

Northrup Shows Berger Associated with Levine.

AFTER AN INDICTMENT.

Believes Certain Persons in Arson Cases Sought to Get Him.

Special State's Attorney John B. Northrup yesterday advanced another step in his exposure of the alleged plot to send him to the penitentiary for his activity in the Twentieth ward election fraud cases.

Through Harry Minsky, co-defendant with Samuel Goldman, on trial before Judge McDonald for alleged subornation of perjury, Northrup developed testimony to indicate that Assistant State's Attorney Henry Berger associated with E. M. Levine after the latter's indictment for arson, and that Levine made an unsuccessful effort to bring Berger and Goldman together. Northrup contends that certain persons interested in the arson cases were willing to "throw certain arsen testimony if the witnesses favored by such an act would aid in getting Northrup."

Factors in Prosecution. Goldman and Minsky were big factors in the prosecution of the case against "Morrie" Abrahamson and four others that failed of conviction. So when Paul Rothenberg, a former investigator for Northrup, "confessed" to Rothenberg's retaliation by prosecuting the defendants now on trial.

Minsky testified that he was "kidnaped" from his home and taken to Rothenberg's office, and that Berger requested Minsky to sign an affidavit without reading it. Minsky swore that Berger said to him: "Now come, get in the band wagon and you'll be well taken care of."

Goldman previously told on the witness stand how Levine, while under indictment, tried to bring him and Berger together.

Overhears Talk in Saloon. The supposed corroborator of these incidents was believed to have been furnished at the afternoon session of court by F. P. McDonald, a private detective in the employ of Northrup. McDonald swore that he overheard Levine discussing money with Goldman in a loop saloon, and that when the men parted McDonald followed Levine to another loop saloon, where he met an acquaintance, believed to be another member of the arson gang. The acquaintance then telephoned to Central 4870 (the state attorney's office) and twenty minutes later, the witness swore, Berger arrived and held earnest conversation with Levine and the other man.

Northrup hopes to establish that this meeting occurred on the eve of Abrahamson's trial.

CARRANZA INTO CAPITAL SUNDAY

Gen. Obregon Announces Plan; Will Enter City Himself Today.

VILLA REVOLT LOOMS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] Mexico City, Aug. 14.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza will make his formal entry into the capital Sunday. This information was given the authorities tonight by Gen. Alvaro Obregon in a telephone communication. Gen. Obregon said he would enter the city tomorrow morning at the head of 40,000 men and accompanied by Gen. Pablo Gonzalez and Francisco Coar. Gen. Laure Villar, who was Carranza's delegate to the conference with Carranza, left today for Vera Cruz.

Capital Awails Rebels. The capital today passed an expectant but absolutely quiet day awaiting the incoming Constitutional army. The plan for the dissolution of the Federal army calls for the delivery of all arms and munitions to the Constitutionalists, which seemingly indicates that if it is complied with there will be no fear of a counter revolution on the part of the Federal army.

Orders closing all Catholic churches were issued today by the archbishop, who will not permit them to reopen until the new regime is established. Many clergymen are leaving for Spain.

Burnham Forces' Objection to Invasion by Gleason's Police Corps of Shooting, Sheriff's Find.

CHICAGO, Pa. Deputy sheriffs detailed to investigate the report that several Chicago policemen were fired upon in Burnham, Ill., where they had followed four alleged holdup men, reported yesterday that the trouble started when the Burnham police resented the intrusion of the Chicago police. The gun men had attempted to hold up Gleason's saloon at One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street and Howard avenue in Hegewisch. The deputies also reported that a gambling feud exists in the town. They wanted a number of saloonkeepers that their license would be revoked if an outbreak occurred in their saloons.

SCRATCHES ON MURDER SUSPECT MADE BY GIRL

Miss Emily Schellenberg
Testifies at Amory Inquest
About the Bruises.

SUIT NO. 2 PUZZLES

The playful scratches of a kittenish girl were brought up in evidence yesterday to attack the circumstantial evidence of the police against Allen M. Thomson in the pursuit of a solution of the mysterious murder of Edward P. Amory.

Mr. Thomson has scratches on his neck. Mr. Thomson explains first that they may have been made by a fox terrier puppy; second, that he may have acquired them in a scuffle with two girls.

At a session of the coroner's inquest into the death of the victim of the strange crime the girl, Miss Emily Schellenberg, of 2201 Biensell street, took the stand in corroboration after Thomson testified.

"I let a stray fox terrier into the house on Monday evening," Thomson testified, "and played with him a while. The next morning I turned him out and he disappeared."

Then Thomson told of a friendly encounter with Miss Schellenberg and a friend, Miss Katherine Johnson, at Miss Johnson's home on Sunday last. Miss Schellenberg, dark haired and pretty, took the stand.

Tells of Snuff. "We had been out walking that afternoon and were caught in a rainstorm," she testified. "When we reached Miss Johnson's home I asked her if she'd let me wear a pair of her shoes while my own were drying. Miss Johnson's shoes were too small and hurt me, but Allen insisted on putting them on my feet. I asked him to stop, but he kept right on. Then I pulled his hair. I guess we were scuffling for about twenty minutes after that. I remember that Allen once cried: 'Ouch! Your nails are sharp!'"

Worried Over Suit. The police are much concerned with Thomson's accounting for the disappearance of a certain suit of clothes. "Is some young Chicagoan, jobs and not too proud to clothe himself in some one else's castoff apparel, wear the Thomson's other blue suit about town in his quest for work?"

Or has the suit, spotted with telltale blood smears, been hidden away to cover a murderer's tracks?

Until Thomson took the witness stand he had consistently refused to tell Captain Halpin and his detectives what had happened to his job in a factio y, he said, because his employers had lost their foreign market.

Needs New Clothes. "It came at a mighty bad time for me," he remarked. "I was going to buy some clothes and now I'm afraid I can't spare the money. I need a new suit badly."

"It struck me that I had no use for the suit I was wearing. I was making a new one for me and I didn't need it. I suggested to the young fellow that we might strike a bargain. Finally he agreed to give me $5 for the suit. I was to meet him on the Southport avenue L platform Monday morning at 9:30 and deliver it."

Coroner Hoffman and Assistant State's Attorney Malloy tried to break down Thomson's story, but he had a ready answer for each question they shot at him. But when the cross examination was over he had admitted that no one saw him take the suit from his home and that he neither knew the name of the purchaser nor had he an idea where to find him.

Mother and Sister Weep. "He had light hair, and was about my height and build, only possibly a little slimmer," was his best description. Thomson's mother and sister were weeping as he took the stand, but he was smiling as confidently as he had earlier in the day when, after a whispered consultation with his attorneys, he had announced he would be a witness. He said he was 21 years old, and had been employed by the Western Railroad association, of which Amory was secretary, for five years.

"Have you ever been in poor health or required medical attention?" asked Coroner Hoffman.

"My health has always been good, and I only required the services of a doctor once. That was when I underwent a skin grafting operation. I gave a strip of my skin to a child who had been burned."

Eyes Twitch a Bit. Q—Are you affected with nervousness? A—My eyes twitch a bit—that's all. Q—Do you exercise to keep your muscles firm? A—No, sir.

Q—From whom did you receive orders while employed by the railroad association? A—From Mr. Amory and Mr. Payson.

Q—What hours were you supposed to be at work? A—From 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the evening. I seldom got down to the office later than 8.

Q—When did you leave on your vacation? A—I left on July 14 and got back on Chicago eight days later. I stayed in Michigan until Saturday, when I returned to Chicago, and stayed a week. I returned to the office on August 3.

Did They Playfully Scratch Him?

Testimony on Blood Stains May Convict.

I hadn't returned immediately. I replied it was my understanding I was not due back until Aug. 8. It seems Miss Curran, the stenographer, was anxious to be away on her own vacation and had told Mr. Amory I should be at the office on Friday.

Q—Isn't it a fact Mr. Amory was angry because you went over his head after he had threatened to discharge you? A—No; he understood there had been a mistake.

Q—When did you last see him alive? A—Between 4:10 and 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He left while I was out of the office, shortly after 5.

Q—Did you see him Wednesday morning? A—No, sir.

Q—When had you talked with him about taking a day off? A—Early Tuesday afternoon. I said I was well up with my work and wanted to go to the dentist's. He said it would be all right, but asked me to get down in time to take care of the outgoing mail in the afternoon.

Tours Loop Shops. Q—What time did you get downtown Tuesday morning? A—It was about 9:15 when I got off a train at the Madison and Wabash "L" station.

Q—What did you do then? A—I went first to Mandel Bros. and spent about half an hour looking around. Then I went to Marshall Field's. It was close to 11 o'clock when I left there. I stopped at Hillman's and looked at some shirts. From there I went to the Boston Store. There was some underwear on sale, but they didn't have anything I wanted. My next stop was the Fair.

Q—What time did you get there? A—About noon. I looked through the photograph department, stopped for a while in the sporting goods department, and then spent a little time in the hardware department. While at the Fair I stepped into a telephone booth and called up a party.

Q—Who? A—Miss Emily Schellenberg, of 2201 Biensell street. It was about 1 o'clock.

Q—Then what? A—I went into a lunchroom across the street and had a chicken pie and a glass of milk.

Eats Cheap Lunch. Q—How long were you there? A—About forty-five minutes.

Q—It took you all that time to get away with 15 cents' worth of food? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where did you go after lunch? A—To Siegel-Coppler's and finally to Rothschild's. There was a sale of hose there and I bought four pairs. Meyers worked in the store. He was a salesman.

Concluding his testimony, Thomson said it was shortly after 3 o'clock when he reached the Peoples Gas building. His story of the finding of the body tallied with those told by other witnesses. He had left his keys in the door of his desk, he said, and called that fact to the attention of James Collins, the superintendent of the building, before he restored them to his pocket.

Holds Up Monkey Wrench. While Dr. W. H. Burmeister, the coroner, recalled, Coroner Hoffman held up the monkey wrench for his inspection.

"I found this wrench on a shelf in the office where Mr. Amory was found dead," he said. "There were stains on it which I intend to have analyzed. There were a couple of pieces of lint clinging to the jaws of the wrench, as if it had been wiped with a towel. Do you think, doctor, that this instrument could have made the wounds on Amory's head?"

"The wounds were made by such an instrument, but the marks on the face could not have been made by a person's fist."

"They were."

WRITES HOW TO RUN HIS ESTATE AND ENDS LIFE

Druggist's Letter Instructs
Father How Profits May Best Be Made.

TELLS WIFE SHE'S FREE

The body of Walter Brody, a druggist at 5800 Glenwood avenue, was found yesterday in a room in the Plymouth hotel at 4700 Broadway. He had ended his life by swallowing an acid solution.

Several hours before taking the fatal draught Brody obtained stationery from the hotel clerk on which he gave lengthy instructions to his father, Solomon Brody, of 1549 Millard avenue, for the profitable disposal of his modest estate.

Also, the hotel stationery he wrote to his wife, telling her that he took his own life that she might gain "the much wanted peace," referring to a small family quarrel, it is said, the couple had had on Thursday.

Letter to Widow. The letter to his widow read: "Baby: I'll get out of the way and give you the much wanted peace. I hope the next man of your choice will bring you tranquility, domestic bliss, and complete happiness, but he certainly couldn't offer you any more fidelity or faithfulness than I have shown. Good-bye."

Letter to Father. The letter to his father read: "Father Dear: I have waited anxiously all day for you, but suppose business has kept you from coming to see me. I am writing you this letter to tell you that I am going to leave this world. I have been thinking about it for some time, but I have never been able to tell you. I have been thinking about it for some time, but I have never been able to tell you. I have been thinking about it for some time, but I have never been able to tell you."

As to the drug store, on a sale it ought to bring $4,500 and $90 a month to clear the remaining vacant. I should suggest to go right ahead and build stores.

Mr. Reed and Mr. Ayres of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank will be good enough to settle my estate.

Mr. J. R. D. Stevenson of Robert Stevenson & Co. will be kind enough to advise you in the drug store matters. I have only one request to make of you, and that is to treat Alice as your own and give her your care and your shelter as long as she requires it. Good-bye and may fate be kind to you.

Clerk Discovers Body. Brody's body was discovered by the hotel clerk when he was unable to enter the room. The hotel clerk, E. R. Maxwell, said Brody registered about 6 o'clock on Thursday evening and went immediately to his room returning soon thereafter for the stationery.

No visitors were admitted to the Brody residence after the widow had been informed of the suicide at noon. Julius Brody, 1549 Millard avenue, brother of the druggist, believed the suicide due to Mrs. Brody's jealousy of her husband.

Charles J. Cole Philosophizes When Told of Girl's Marriage at Crown Point.

Charles J. Cole of 5401 Aberdeen street is a philosopher, at least as far as matrimony is concerned. A reporter for THE TRIBUNE informed him last night that his daughter, Anna, who is 19 years old, had been married at Crown Point to Walter T. Ward of 3405 South Ashland avenue.

"Is that so?" remarked Mr. Cole quietly. "She didn't tell me anything about it. I suppose she didn't think it was necessary."

"Will you give them your blessing?" the reporter asked.

"Oh, I guess so," was the reply. "There is nothing else to be done, is there? Young people will get married."

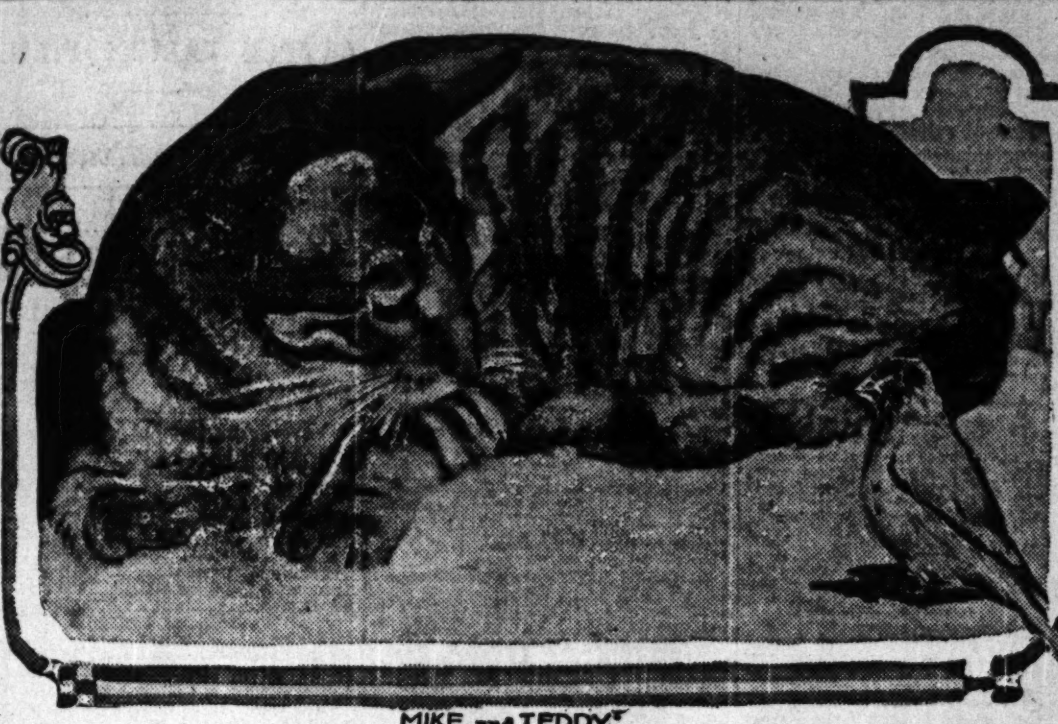

The young bride responded to the telephone at the Ashland avenue address.

"It wasn't an elopement," she asserted. "We don't want any publicity."

Waitress Picket Fined $5. Fourth Tried on Charge of Obstructing Sidewalk Will Argue for Appeal.

Katherine Jacob, the first of the pickets of the striking waitresses found guilty of obstructing a jury in Municipal Judge Scott's court. Hope Thompson, attorney for the union, entered a motion for a new trial, which will be argued this morning. Three different juries acquitted the first three strikers tried. A fifth jury was sworn in to hear the case of Kettle Dalton as soon as Miss Jacob's case had been disposed of.

JILTED GIRL AND EX-FIANCIE GONE

Miss Nelle Lemon and Dean Moberley Are Sought by the Police.

LOVE TANGLE DEEPENS.

Miss Nelle Lemon is missing. Dean L. Moberley, grain broker and member of the Chicago board of trade, could not be located last night.

Mrs. L. Lemon of 4711 Kenmore avenue, the mother, has asked the police to find the girl. Circumstances point to an unexpected development in the love tangle involving Miss Lemon, Moberley, and Miss Dorothy Southwick, a Streator, Ill., high school girl.

How It Came About. Thursday Miss Lemon filed a breach of promise suit for $50,000 against Moberley following an exchange of correspondence in which he admitted the waning of his affection for her after an eight year courtship and announced the blossoming of a new love for Miss Southwick. Miss Lemon told her mother, the mother called Attorney George Remus and the suit was filed.

Mr. Moberley, sympathetic, constitutional, entertained Miss Lemon at dinner. She called THE TRIBUNE and declared she had made an affidavit with drawing the suit. Her mother called THE TRIBUNE declaring she would not allow her daughter to be led into dismissal of the action.

Mr. Moberley called THE TRIBUNE, saying there would be no suit and no story to print, also denying a money settlement. Miss Southwick told THE TRIBUNE she did not know whether she would marry Moberley or not.

Police Are Called In. Last night Mrs. Lemon informed THE TRIBUNE that her daughter had disappeared and that the police had been called into the case. Attorney Remus was inclined to connect the girl's disappearance with the vanishing of Mr. Moberley.

Heirs in Legal Squabble. MERCY HOSPITAL GAINS. Chicago Institution to Get $300,000 as Result of Dispute Over Estate of Charles Haines.

Mercy hospital will receive a bequest of approximately $200,000 according to the terms of a forgotten will unearthed in a lock box in the Columbus Memorial building yesterday. The will is that of the late Charles Haines, the wealthiest resident of St. Charles, Ill., who died recently at the age of 70, leaving an estate valued at $300,000.

Except for two $10,000 bequests to distant relatives, the entire estate is willed to Mr. Haines' mother, Mrs. Harriet Haines, who is now 86 years old. At her death one-third of the fortune goes to the St. Charles public schools and the remaining two-thirds to Mercy hospital.

No will was found when Mr. Haines died, and the estate went to his mother, David, Frank, and Clarence Lester, and Robert Goodhue, cousins of Mr. Haines, and Miss Josephine Lester, a niece, at present living in Chicago.

For Mrs. Haines, but she was defeated. They claimed Mrs. Haines was incompetent on account of her age and charged that she was unduly influenced by Dr. F. M. Marshall of Geneva, Ill., one of the three administrators of the estate. An appeal has been taken by the relatives and is scheduled to come up for a hearing in the Kane County court on Tuesday.

Revolutionists Made Life. John Morrison, a bartender, is a victim of a revolution in a small town in Nicaragua. He was shot yesterday by a revolutionist and is now in the hospital. No reason could be learned by the police for his action.
